Subject: 5/8/91 Letter

Dear Mr. Draluck:

The fact that you are considering yourself a "professional coach" is between you and the club or parents that hire you. If they feel that your services are of such value to be paid for, that service is none of my concern and I hope that they receive value for their money.

What is of my concern is the Southern California Blues application to participate in Coast Soccer League play. Your letter implies that you are involved with this group of three teams applying for entrance into CSL. The application for the above named teams does not mention your name as being in any way associated with these teams.

In your letter you keep using the personal pronoun "we", am I to assume that you in fact are to be the coach of these teams. If that is the case this is a clear violation of Section 2.A of the Coast Soccer League's Competition Rules and Regulations and can be a reason for a teams denial to participate in Coast Soccer League.

Very Truly Yours,

Joan Wind
